"Understanding [the] challenges and tackling them creatively can make climate-change adaptation an important way to help build a more vibrant world in the near-term and beyond"

On 31 March, the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) issued a report stating that even though climate change effects are already occurring all over the Earth, there are opportunities to respond to such risks.

The report Climate Change 2014: Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability, produced by Working (...)
