Reviving people's enthusiasm for Europe... Rekindling a desire for Europe... These expressions and variant versions are to be found in an increasing number of articles as the European elections are drawing near. Their authors are right. Nothing good is made without passion. The question is how to achieve it.

Enthusiasm, desire, passion... Let's give way to dreams, starting with the following one.

In 2008, under French presidency, the European Union decided on a climate change and energy (...)
