

Polish municipalities engage for energy security and a low carbon economy [1]

8 July 2014 - 3:11pm

Béatrice Alcaraz, Miriam Eisermann

Is Poland really this climate sceptic and fossil-fuel oriented country that we often hear of? Fortunately, the local level tells a different story! Last week, 12 local authorities and partners from the Łódzkie voivodeship (central Poland) have signed a declaration showing their commitment for improved energy security and a low carbon economy. The declaration was the highlight of a three-days conference hosted by the Lodzkie region from 25-27 June 2014. This "Lodzkie Congress of Energy" (...)

Source:

<http://www.energy-cities.eu/Polish-municipalities-engage-for> [2]

Source URL: <https://pocacito.eu/blog/2014-07-08/polish-municipalities-engage-energy-security-and-low-carbon-economy>

Links

[1] <https://pocacito.eu/blog/2014-07-08/polish-municipalities-engage-energy-security-and-low-carbon-economy>

[2] <http://www.energy-cities.eu/Polish-municipalities-engage-for>

